Mobile or not, these guys, uh, deliver the goods. The swiss chard pie is out of this world. Yes, swiss chard. Seriously, these folks will tow their wood oven to your event and then proceed to blow your guests out of the water with tour de force pizza making. Thin-ish, semi-individual pies make for making new friends as you queue to fight over the last slice, ignoring the fact that the next creation is a mere three minutes from coming out. Guys, please get a permanent space and give us these pizzas seven days a week. —Scott Goodwin
